Salary and fringe benefit information for the 39 communities who responded is provided on the following pages.

Methodology

The initial Regional Salary and Fringe Benefits Survey was published in November of 1983. At that time, to insure a survey instrument that would be most beneficial to local officials responsible for personnel matters, a committee composed of personnel directors from the Cities of Davenport and Rock Island and Scott County met with Commission staff. The Committee identified employee groups and fringe benefits to be surveyed, and developed job classifications that would be used in comparing salary levels. Personnel policies and salary schedules were obtained from local officials. Staff compiled the survey information, which was then reviewed by the local officials for accuracy prior to the final printing of the document.

In preparing this year's Regional Salary and Fringe Benefits Survey, last year's document was distributed, and officials were asked to update salary information as necessary and to provide information regarding changes to employee fringe benefits.
